

10 Education Newsletters To Sharpen Your Teaching Game

Top Education Newsletters

The team at Education Slice have gathered links to some of the best education newsletters here in one place, so you can browse and see which ones will help you keep abreast of your profession. Presented to you in alphabetical order:

(1) Chalkbeat

Chalkbeat has a slew of newsletters focused on the geographic area it covers.

The New York version seems to be the most popular, but the national newsletter includes a bit of everything, while the Detroit Week In Review, has that obsessive quality that you want in in a district-focused newsletter about an area you might not otherwise know much about.

(2) Education Dive

News and analysis for higher ed and k-12 leaders. Topics include online learning, policy, ed tech, MOOCs, admissions, blended learning and more.

(3) Education Slice

Education Slice is a suite of daily education news summaries designed to bring together the best news, views and comment for educators. Under its Principal News brand there are also State-focused newsletters for education professionals in Texas, California, Illinois, the Carolinas, Pennsylvania and Florida.

The newsletters reach over 30,000 Principals, Teachers, Superintendents and Senior Leadership Teams within additional US states.

(4) EdSurge

EdSurge has a strong presence in the edtech literature space. The design of its site and publications is current and well-executed, which helps EdSurge stand out. The writing style is also notable: intriguing, clever, and to the point.

(5) Education Week

Education Week has host of newsletters including The Savvy Principal, Teacher Update, Tech Leader, Market Brief, Curriculum Matters, and edBiz update.

(6) Hack Education Weekly News

Produced by current Spencer Education Journalism fellow Audrey Watters, this newsletter is deeply focused on the intersection of education and technology. Each week Watters gathers a wide-ranging variety of articles from across the spectrum of both fields.

(7) Politico's Weekly Education

This popular newsletter blends original content and other reporting. Delivered every Monday by 10 a.m., Politico's offering examines the latest news in education politics and policy.

(8) The 74

Co-founded by former CNN host and education reform activist Campbell Brown, The 74 is a nonprofit news website focusing on education issues in the U.S.

A relative newcomer on the scene, The 74, which refers to the 74 million children in America under 18 years of age, includes the first-thing morning news roundup called TopSheet.

(9) The Education Gadfly Weekly

The Fordham Foundation's Education Gadfly Weekly is now in its 17th year, it has recently introduced a new "what we're reading" section, which is a welcome addition.

The newsletter also includes a weekly podcast, something few others manage to pull off successfully.

(10) The Hechinger Report

The Hechinger Report covers inequality and innovation in education with in-depth journalism that uses research, data and stories from classrooms and campuses to show the public how education can be improved and why it matters.
